Development of Capacities for Green Climate Fund Project Development
African Development Bank, Climate Change and Green Growth Department (PECG)

Research Intern

A major barrier that Direct Access Entities (DAE) in Africa face in accessing the Green Climate Fund (GCF) is developing successful or 'bankable' project proposals. With the aim of addressing this gap, OneWorld has been contracted to build on previous and ongoing work by the GCF, the African Development Bank (AfDB), the global community of practice of DAEs (CPDAE) and other partners to develop a Training of Trainers programme on bankable project development for African beneficiaries.

On this project Zac wrote rubrics for both the Theory of Change and LogFrame assessments, as well as setting the course's final exam.

Research on Former Public Protector of South Africa Thuli Madonsela's Professional Career.
Pan Macmillan

Part time researcher

The purpose of this research was to provide an accurate account and timeline of Former Public Protector of South Africa Thuli Madonsela's professional career, which she used as reference database for her autobiography.

Work included researching and reporting on important dates, engagements, and events on Thuli Madonsela's life to compile a database and timeline for which she could reference when writing her autobiography.

Applied International Trade and Bargaining Course
University of Cape Town

Online Course Coordinator

The Applied International Trade and Bargaining Course is an applied World Trade Organisation (WTO) simulation run by the UCT School of Economics and Law Faculty, which gives students a theoretical and practical understanding of WTO trade and trade law negotiations.

As Online Course Coordinator I was responsible for handling all student and tutor online queries, producing instructional videos and teaching material on navigating and understanding relevant online systems, and moving and overhauling the course material and practical elements to full online teaching platform to accommodate for Covid-19.
